Other Student Government Offices Go To Becker, Matthias, Ristau

By Kris Benedict

Results of the 1964 student body elections scored a bit for Dave Hutson as he pulled into the president's position on a decisive vote.

Other races were closer with Mike Becker winning the vice-presidency, Barb Matthias elected as secretary and Arlyn Ristau taking over a narrow lead in the race for treasurer.

A total of 913 ballots were cast yesterday. None were spoiled.

According to Nelson Meyer, student body president, the newly-elected officers will assume their responsibilities at the Senate meeting on Monday, May 4. They will be officially installed before the student body during convocation on May 14.

President-elect Hutson is from Sibley, Ill., and is currently the junior class president. In addition, he is serving on the Curriculum Study and Social Activities Committees.

Asked his reaction on the election outcome, Hutson replied, "This is something I've hoped and planned for a long time. I'm going to put forth all the effort for this office that I can. This is probably the most sincere feeling that I've ever had."

Mike Becker of Racine, Wis., is presently working on Chapel, Social Activities and Intramural Committees. After results were announced he said that he was "thrilled and honored. It's just too bad one person has to lose."

New secretary, Miss Matthias is from Pomona, Calif. She has been a cheerleader for the past two years, and is now the secretary of the Women's Athletic Association.

Ristau, from Nora Springs, is currently acting as one of the co-chairmen for the Spring Pops Concert. He is also a member of Tri-Beta and "W" Club.

Nominations for the offices of class presidents will be open April 14. Voting will take place April 14.

On the following week, beginning April 15, candidates may take out nomination papers for Student Senate positions. These elections will be held April 24.

Nominations for the 1964 Homecoming chairman, or co-chairmen, may be made after April 25. Balloting will be on April 30.

Dr. C. Becker Arrives Home

President C. H. Becker has again returned to his home from Rochester after suffering a re-currence of a previous infection. Mrs. Becker reports that he is getting along well.

The next few weeks will primarily involve receiving medical care at home, with at least one week of bed and chair care.

His main goal at this time is to regain strength and some of the twenty pounds that he has lost during his illness.

Dr. Becker said that be hopes to be back in his office at least part-time within a couple of weeks.

Senate Appoints Carnival Leaders

Sophomores Jack Wendt and Mike Zolnosky have been named by the Student Senate as chairmen of the Spring Carnival.

As in previous years, proceeds from the carnival will go towards this year's student body project.

No definite date has been set for this student sponsored activity. The Social Activities Committee is presently designating one of the first weekends of May as the date for an outdoor carnival.

Student Senate and the administration are recommending that money earned from the project he used toward buying furniture for the new Student Union. The student body will vote on this recommendation in Tuesday's convocation.

Evaluation Team To Visit In 1966

Wartburg College is on the list of colleges and universities to be reviewed in 1966 by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

An evaluation team will visit the campus sometime between Feb. 1 and June 1, 1966. This will be the first re-evaluation since Wartburg was admitted to this accreditation agency.

Former Instructors To Return

Two visiting professors of English, one of whom taught at Wartburg in 1957-58, and a returning instructor have been added to the Wartburg faculty for next year, as announced by Dr. John Chellevold, dean of faculty.

Dr. Edilberto K. Tiempo will be one visiting professor of English next year. He completed undergraduate study at Silliman University in the Philippines and received his bachelor of science degree in English in 1937.

He earned his master's degree in Fine Arts from the State University of Iowa, Iowa City, in 1951. He received his Ph. D. from the University of Denver, Denver, Colo., in 1957.

Currently he is a visiting lecturer at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, Mich.

He has been a faculty member at Silliman University since 1940. He was a visiting professor at Wartburg College during the 1957-58 school year.

In collaboration with his wife, Edith L. Tiempo, he has published four textbooks.

Dr. Edith L. Tiempo will also be a visiting professor of English. She received her B. S. E. from Silliman University in 1947, her M. A. from the State University of Iowa in 1949 and her Ph. D. from the University of Denver, Denver, Colo., in 1958.

She is professor of English at Silliman University (on leave). Like her husband, she is visiting lecturer at Western Michigan University during the current school year. She has been on the faculty of Silliman University since 1947.

Her publications include poetry, a novel "A Blade of Fern" submitted for her doctoral dissertation at the University of Denver in 1958, short stories, essays and textbooks in collaboration with her husband, Dr. Edilberto Tiempo.

William Waltmann

William Waltmann will return to Wartburg next year as assistant professor of mathematics.

He was instructor of mathematics at Wartburg College from 1956 until 1961. The returning professor graduated from Wartburg in 1956.

He obtained his master of science degree from Iowa State University, Ames, in 1958. He is currently completing work for his Ph. D. at Iowa State University where he is also a full time mathematics instructor.

Summer experiences for Waltmann include being a mathematics programmer at Whitesands Proving Ground, New Mexico, in 1957. During the summer of 1959 he was given a grant to participate in a National Science Foundation Institute at Ames.

The following summer he was involved in a National Science Foundation Research Participation Program at the University of Oklahoma, Delaware, Okla. In 1961 he was in recipient of a National Science Foundation grant at New Mexico State University, Albuquerque, N.M.

Waltmann replaces John S. Meyer, Mathematics Department, who is returning to do graduate study to complete his doctorate.

Sadie Hawkins Sounds Her Call

By Linda Stull

April 10-11 are days most Wartburg coeds should underscore on their calendars, according to Sophomore Class President Bill Hamm. "Hustlers' Holiday," a Sadie Hawkins weekend, will go into effect then.

This weekend has been set aside by the Social Activities Committee for all-out hustling by the female contingent of the campus. Martha Farlow, sophomore, received two free tickets for the weekend's activities for her prize-winning theme.

Friday, April 10 will be the "girls' night out." "Midnight Lace," a color movie starring Doris Day, Rex Harrison and John Gavin will be shown in the Chapel-auditorium.

Following rules will be in effect:

1. Girls pay all expenses — food, movie tickets and gas (seven cents a mile if she doesn't have her own car.)

2. Girls (naturally) assume all responsibility for making the date.

3. The girl must drive if a car is used.

4. Girls must escort guys back to their residences.

"In short," said Hamm, "everything will be reversed but the hours. It isn't that eliminating girl's hours is frowned upon, but that it would be very difficult to set up cards, etc., for a one night late system for the guys."

When the girls get back to the dormitory, they will fill out cards answering various questions about the evening. Cards will be scored, and an average per girl set up for each dormitory.

Dorm with the girls having the highest "hustling rate" will receive a trophy at the dance Saturday night. Points will be awarded for amount of money spent and behavior during the evening.

Saturday night, April 11, will be "stag night." Everyone should keep in the spirit of things and go stag.

"Of course steadies' will want to be together," Bill explained, "but we would like to eliminate actual dates. All dances will be strictly girls' choice."

The dance committee hopes to have some live entertainment, although the dance will be a record hop in the Little Theater. Decorations are being planned and everything will be very informal.

A special committee has been set up to plan additional activities after the movie on Friday night. Plans are not definite, but it will involve food.

Sub-committee chairmen for this weekend are dance committee, Carol Wessels; publicity, Dianne Ellison; after-movie activities, Sue Sutliff; and trophy, Marg Freeland.

"It is hoped by the General Committee that this weekend will have a great success," said Hamm. "We're hoping to make it a yearly event to round out the agenda of spring social activities."

EDITORIALS

Empathy Over Apathy

I wouldn't be surprised if this same editorial could be written every year the day after election. This year maybe it will be different, but probably not.

Empathy and not apathy was apparent in student government this week.

At the time of this writing the head of student government has not been chosen, but by the time you read this some of us will be disappointed and some will be happy. Both reactions can lead to inaction, but let's not let them.

The new student body president needs your help on committees and your support through the 1964-1965 school year. The candidate defeated needs your help for encouragement and support in other government offices which he is worthy of filling.

Let's keep empathy over apathy and action over inaction.

Hedgitis

Some call it "beating around the bush," others might call it "hedgitis," and some call it public relations.

Public relations at a college is a difficult job because there are so many different ways of viewing what is done.

Consider an example like Dr. Josef Fox's speaking at Wartburg for Spiritual Emphasis Week. One part of the public almost demanded that he not speak at Wartburg. Another group wanted to hear him so as to attack what he said, others felt indifferent and still others couldn't have cared less. A faction of the public also lauded Wartburg College for being so open-minded. Which public should be pleased? Or still, which members of which public? Those on campus or those off-campus?

It is human nature to try and make oneself "look good" in the eyes of another person. Is it also, perhaps, this same nature which makes some members of the faculty and administration so public relations conscious?

Some students seem to feel that although they can ask any question they like, it will be answered, yes, but not directly.

Generally speaking, questions at the open forum convo Thursday were answered. But if students were looking for a specific answer as to why the Singers didn't present a jazz mass off-campus, such as lack of funds, students couldn't afford to miss classes, the public would be too critical or whatever the case may be, the answer, "It was decided not to," seems inadequate.

Is it because of public relations and what people might say that answers are hedged?

What is the place of public relations at Wartburg? Or better yet, who is the public? Perhaps the students should receive the first consideration when answers are given. With students in mind, perhaps hedgitis can be killed.

Candidates Express Thanks

To The Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank students who supported me in the recent student body elections.

Interest in this election and the support given to all the candidates was something which was greatly appreciated by all the candidates.

It's not so much a question of winning or losing, but rather that the interest shown was an active interest with many people involved in the campaigns. I'm sure I speak for all the candidates when I say thank you for your interest.

Thank you again,
Mike Becker

Are We Committed To Follow Him?

By Paul Wilkan

EASTER . . .

It's an old story about 1900 years' worth, in fact.

It's a familiar story, entrenched in our minds, dulled by repetition.

It's a radical story of one who died and rose again.

To some it has become meaningless, superseded
by logical empiricism,
by dialectical materialism,
by the scientific method,
by the father image.

Or sentimental slush, rejected
by the Nietzschean intelligence, by all respectable college students.

To some it has become more meaningful because of a world sinking in meaninglessness, because they believe there is more to life than a bank account,
a college education,
empirically verifiable answers,
because it strikes a responsive chord in them.

To all it has the possibility of becoming a source of authority when others prove unsatisfactory, a way to authentic maturity
when others do not reach, a call to commitment to one who overcomes death and reaffirms life.

Even to college students who are already committed to other important things, such as making the dean's list, finding a mate,
landing a job.

To all it offers a way to significant commitment in terms of dedicating one's all to an ultimate cause, giving one's self like the suffering servant,
finding meaningfulness in the midst of confusion.

What then do we do with the radical claim of Easter?
Do we refuse to consider it, thinking that an answer can be avoided?
reject it
as being insignificant in our century?
punch holes in it trying to destroy it?
wait to see like Thomas the print of the nails and the mark of the sword?

Or do we commit ourselves to one who died and rose again,
to one who says to us,
"Follow me?"

BECKER'S BANTER

21st Birthday Gives Responsibility, Fun

By Kathryn Beckar

Hey! Guess what. I've got a birthday. But it's not just any birthday, any run-of-the-mill natal day celebration occasion. It's a genuine twenty-first birthday. And they're hard to come by these days.

Beckar

Just think of all the doors that will be open for me. The possibilities absolutely overwhelm me. To be free! To answer only to myself. To make my own decisions and know they can't be overruled.

A free agent at last. The shackles of youth and inexperience will be loosened by the ticking of the clock. Completely painless. In the dead of winter weather the sun will shine and the birds will sing my song of victory.

No one's going to tell me what to do or not do. I'm 21, a member of adult society, a full-fledged human being. I can't be pushed aside any more with the comment, "You're too young." I'm not too young for anything except old age.

Funny, how things look from the outside. How just a few points jab their way through. Only the glitter shows at first.

There's a voting machine. An insurance policy. A wedding band. A teacher's certificate. A bank book. A baby's rattle. Yet there's something else — something which can be ducked by many, but not for long — responsibility.

That's part of being 21, too. Accepting the obligations along with the privileges. There's a price tag on life that has nothing to do with money. Each person decides for himself how much he is willing to pay.

Please don't think I'm preaching to you. I'm trying to tell myself that, although I need not answer to anyone, I must now answer for someone. Myself. No more shifting the blame. My background is taken care of; my future is but an elusive shadow.

I'm thrilled at turning 21. With all aspects of being "of Age." And just between the two of us, I'm going to have a try at the privileges before tackling the responsibilities. Not a word to anyone now!

Baseballers To Face Coe

By Chuck Ditto

Two weeks from today the hardballers will launch into the 1964 campaign in a non-conference twinbill with Coe College.

This week, Coach E. F. Oppermann has been faced with, as he puts it, "one of the greatest problems of my life." Oppermann found it difficult to cut one of his best squads in years to 30 members.

Wartburg, providing no major catastrophes are confronted, should be ready to battle for the Midwest Conference title of 1965. Oppermann feels that this veteran is way ahead of last year's third time conference champions in both hitting and pitching.

"I think we could play tomorrow," said Oppermann. "Of course, we might not win them all, but we could field a respectable team."

Oppiemen open loop action at home with a double-header with William Penn, Oskaloosa, on April 11, and at the same time will be seeking the fourth straight conference title.

Head coach Oppermann feels the team's biggest problem is going to be getting in the "mental mood" to recover from mistakes. "We have to cut down on mistakes," admitted Oppermann, "if we are going to win some of those tight ball games."

Oppermann sized up the conference as being one of the "toughest ever." He went on to explain, "Buena Vista should be terrific this year; Upper Iowa should be 'tops;' Luther, a real contender, and Dubuque, the 'sleeper' in the title race."

As a counterattack, the Knights have hard-hitting Bob Matthias back after last year's knee injury which forced him to the sidelines. He will team up with all-conference teammates Ray Bye, Roger Kittleson and Dave Langrock to provide the hitting power.

Combined with pitching from Leon Carley, Little-All-American, Garry Medlang and Langrock, the Wartburg diamondmen will be right in there battling for the crown again.

"We have a real fine ball club," commented Oppermann, "but it's not only in how you prepare yourself for each game that wins championships. It's those little things over which you have no control."

Baseballers, Netmen Anxious For Outside

By Mike Becker

This has been a busy week for your local sports columnist. There hasn't been too much happening in the way of intramurals or varsity sports.

In I.M.'s, the wrestling tourney is being held this week. Weigh-ins were held on Tuesday night. Wednesday hosted the first matches. It would be interesting to see a wrestling match between the two presidential candidates.

Becker

Dave Hutson has lettered two years here at Wartburg, while Dave Kildahl wrestled at West Point. There would be a little weight difference, however.

The baseballers under Coach Oppermann are anxious to kick off the reins and get outside. There should be pretty fair battles for several positions, with the nod going to whoever can hit the ball. If we can find a couple more pitchers we will be in really good shape.

Terry Fairchild has looked pretty good throwing indoors, but inside it's pretty hard to tell who is really looking good. Four championships in a row would be quite a feat. We should be stronger this year, but everybody else will also be stronger. Let's hope we don't have to back into the championship this year with Luther's help.

The racketmen are also eagerly awaiting the call of the birds to come outside. This promises to be a really good year for Wartburg's tennis team. With the first six men returning and five of them being lettermen from last year, I think we can have a really good season.

Miss Meyer, from the P.E. Department, is quite a tennis player. I hope she can come out and give us a few helpful pointers about our game.

ATTENTION, GIRLS — The Wartburg players (basketball players) defeated the Upper Iowa recruits 47-36 on Wednesday night. High scorer for the Knighties was Jan Krug with 15 points, followed by Nancy Nuss with 14 points.

A squad of 12 made the traveling team and the word is out that they enjoyed themselves very much. Congratulations, girls.

Golfers Open Season Apr. 11

Eleven men answered Coach Norman Johansen's call for linksters. Golf season opens April 11 at Dubuque with a dual meet with the Dubuque Spartans.

Three lettermen will lead the Knights this year. Senior Bruce Hein from Waverly is a 3-year letterman while juniors Leigh Pietsch from Wheaton, Ill. and Harry Jebsen from Blue Island, Ill., are one letter winners.

Newcomers include highly rated Les Holland from Lake Mills. Others are senior Larry Croghan from Griswold, juniors Dennis Bigelow from Arlington and Jerome Hemenway from Toluca, Ill.

Also reporting were sophomore Norman Luttinen from Gary, Ind., and Bob Bauman from Allison, while freshmen Dave Helgesen from Cobb, Wis., and Allen Lyndrup from Clifton, Ill., also reported.

Alley Men Roll Away

Bill Warchus' Strikers (team 2) edged out Jim Stoebner's Alley Cats (team 3) 2-1 in points last Saturday. The Strikers lost the first game 813-769, but came roaring back to take the second game 927-798, and total pins 1796-1611.

The Strikers are now tied with the Gutter Ballers of team 4, with five points out of a possible six.

The Gutter Ballers beat the Machinists 2-1 in a very close contest. The Machinists led in the first game right up until the tenth frame.

A lack of marks in the last two frames, the same trouble plaguing the Machinists the week before, led to a victory for the Gutter Ballers.

They outscored the Machinists 7-2 in marks the last two frames and won 904-887. In the second game the Machinists came back to win by one point, 869-868. Dan Knobloch fired a 213 for the Machinists in that game.

Total pin count was 1772-1756 in the Gutter Ballers' favor.

In the last contest the King Pins of team one fell to the Ten Pins of team five, 3-0. These two teams are now tied for third place with total scores of three points. The game was fairly close as the Ten Pinners pulled it out 786-769.

In the second game, however, there was a 90 pin spread as the King Pins dropped by a 769-679 score. The total pins added up to 1555 for the Ten Pins and 1447 for the King Pins.

SENIOR LETTERMAN BRUCE Hein and Junior Harry Jebsen continue practice for the Knights' first golf meet with Dubuque April 11 at Dubuque.

I.M. Wrestlers Close Season

By Dan Knobloch

Intramural wrestling meets were held Wednesday and Thursday. The preliminary matches were held Wednesday night with the championship matches on the following night.

Wednesday winners were Fliehler and Peterson at 137, Ingle and Meeker at 147, Trachte and Buenning at 167, Baldner and Kildahl at 177, Wachholz and Olmstead at 191 and Zosulis and Swartz at heavyweight.

In the championship matches, Bill Tufford beat Jim Kinsinger 4-0 for the 130 pound title.

In the 137 pound class Jim Fliehler took Larry Peterson 7-0. Fliehler had a takedown in the first period for two, and a near pin in the second period for three more. His last two points came on a reversal in the last period.

Keith Ingle beat Bob Meeker 7-4 for the 147 crown. The match was hard fought with both contestants giving their best.

John Mantei pinned Dave Wartenburg in a skillful victory at 157. Mantei showed superior conditioning. He got two points for a takedown in the first period and won the pin in the second.

Larry Trachte, a winner Wednesday night, had a night class on Thursday and was unable to wrestle. Walt Buenning won the 167 title by forfeit.

Dave Kildahl pinned Gerald Baldner in the first period of the 177 pound match. Kildahl got a takedown, rolled Baldner on his back and pinned him with about 30 seconds remaining in the period.

Bob Wachholz also managed a pin over Bill Olmstead. Wachholz's pin came in the second period.

In the last match of the evening Aivars Zosulis decisioned Bob Swartz 2-0. Zosulis, fresh from a tough victory over Dave Lange Wednesday night, received his two points on a reversal in the second period.

Dave Langrock has announced that the pairings for I.M. table tennis and pool are posted in the game room. Those who have signed up for one or both of these sports should check in the game room to see who they play.

Summer School Details Released

General information about the summer semester at Wartburg was released by Dr. John Chellevold, dean of faculty, this week.

The eight-week term extends from June 8 through July 31, and the four-week term from Aug. 3 through Aug. 28. Registration is scheduled for June 8 in the office of the Registrar.

Courses are listed in a brochure, which includes an application blank, available in the dean of faculty's office.

Dr. E. W. Hertel, Biology Department, has been appointed assistant director of the summer session as announced by Dr. Chellevold, director of the summer session.

A visiting Fulbright Scholar from Norway, Dr. Helge Ytrehus, will teach two classes during the summer semester this year.

He will be in the United States doing research for a possible book on Charles Peirce's philosophy.

Wartburg College this summer is offering two full-year language courses, one in German and one in French. Students attending will be required to go to class two hours each day in order to meet requirements.

A course called Machine Shorthand will be offered for students who have had no shorthand or for those teaching majors who have had Gregg Shorthand and desire to become certified machine shorthand teachers.

Another highlight this summer will be a visiting lecturer, Dr. Richard C. Cole, from Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio, who will teach Recent World History during the four-week term.

"One thing about summer school is that there will be air-conditioning in the library," Dr. Chellevold added.

Last Chance For Tickets

IT'S NOT TOO late to buy tickets to see Al Hirt in action. He will appear with his Sextet in the Spring Pops Concert April 15. March 23 is the last date tickets will be available on campus, according to Rog Sherman and Arlyn Ristau, co-chairmen of the event.

Holy Week Worship Tuesday

A special Holy Week worship service will be held in convocation next Tuesday. Speaker will be the Rev. R. G. Borgwardt.

Pastor Borgwardt formerly served as pastor of First Lutheran Church in Sioux Falls, S. D., and has recently moved to the Bethel Lutheran Church in Madison, Wis.

The last convocation series, in keeping with the over-all theme, "Freedom-Security: The Human Dilemma," will be based on the Civil War.

First of these programs will be given Thursday, April 2. At that time Dr. E. B. Smith will speak on "What Makes the Civil War So Fascinating."

Dr. Smith is professor of history at Iowa State University, Ames. In 1962 he was a candidate for the United States Senate on the Democratic ticket.
